"It is essential that the student acquire an understanding of and a feeling for values. He must acquire a vivid sense of the beautiful and of the morally good. Otherwise, he with his specialized knowledge more closely resembles a well-trained dog than a harmoniously developed person."

"Here is the element or power of conduct, of intellect and knowledge, of beauty, and of social life and manners, all needful to build a complete human life. We have instincts responding to them all and requiring them all, perfectly civilized only when all instincts have been adequately recognized and satisfied."

"True glory consists of doing what deserves to be written; writing what deserves to be read; and so living as to make the world happier and better for our having lived in it."

"To live is not merely to breathe; it is to make use of our organs, senses, faculties, of all those parts of ourselves which give us feeling of existence. The man who has lived longest is not the man who has counted the most years, but who has enjoyed life most."

“Thought is the property of those who can entertain it.”

HOMECOMING

ADMINISTRATION

Today more than ever the demands of a growing college require more of a man than the prerequisites of academic and administrative acumen. They require foresight. Dr. Glenn L. Clayton, president of Ashland College, radiates distinction and authority, yet has a genuine spirited concern for what the students want and have to say. A familiar face at all concerts, games, and banquets, Dr. Clayton is the reflection of the spirit and warmth of Ashland College.

Dean Of Ashland College

Leslie E. Lindower

Dean Leslie E. Lindower is enjoying his thirty-fourth year at Ashland College. He is responsible for the selection and supervision of the faculty and their activities in the classroom. Dean Lindower is to be congratulated for his excellent service and purposeful dedication.

Dr. Rendell Rhoades

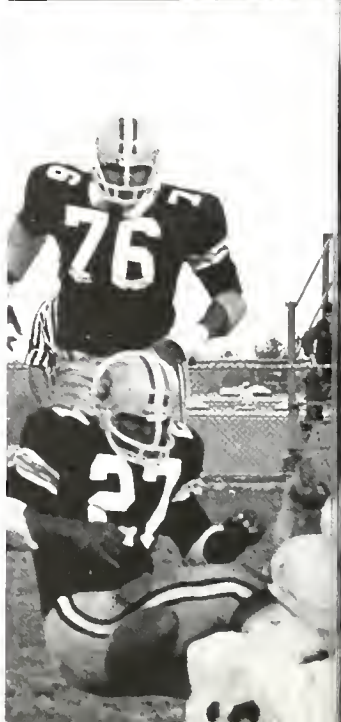

Professor of Biology, Dr. Rendell Rhoades received his BS and BS in Ed. degrees from Wilmington College, his MS and PhD. degrees from the Ohio State University. An international authority on crayfish, his own collection is housed in the United States National Museum in Washington, D.C. He has served as Fisheries Technician for the Ohio Division of Conservation and Curator of Collections at the Cleveland Museum of Natural History.

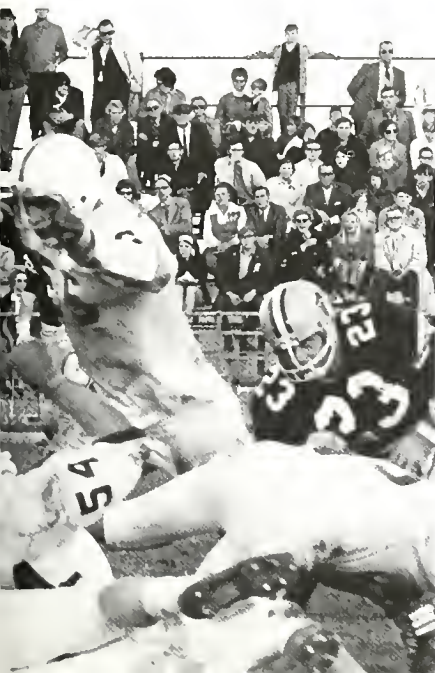

Combining his experiences and knowledge in his teaching, Dr. Rhoades taught at the Ohio State University and headed the Earth Science Department at Wilmington College.

Dr. Rhoades has been consultant for Battelle Institute, TVA, and Burgess and Niple. He has published numerous articles in scientific and general periodicals for over thirty years.

In addition to his academic achievements Dr. Rhoades has furthered his knowledge by extensive travel in England, Scandinavia, Chile, Brazil, Argentina and Tierra del Fuego. His greatest ambition is to visit Antarctica.

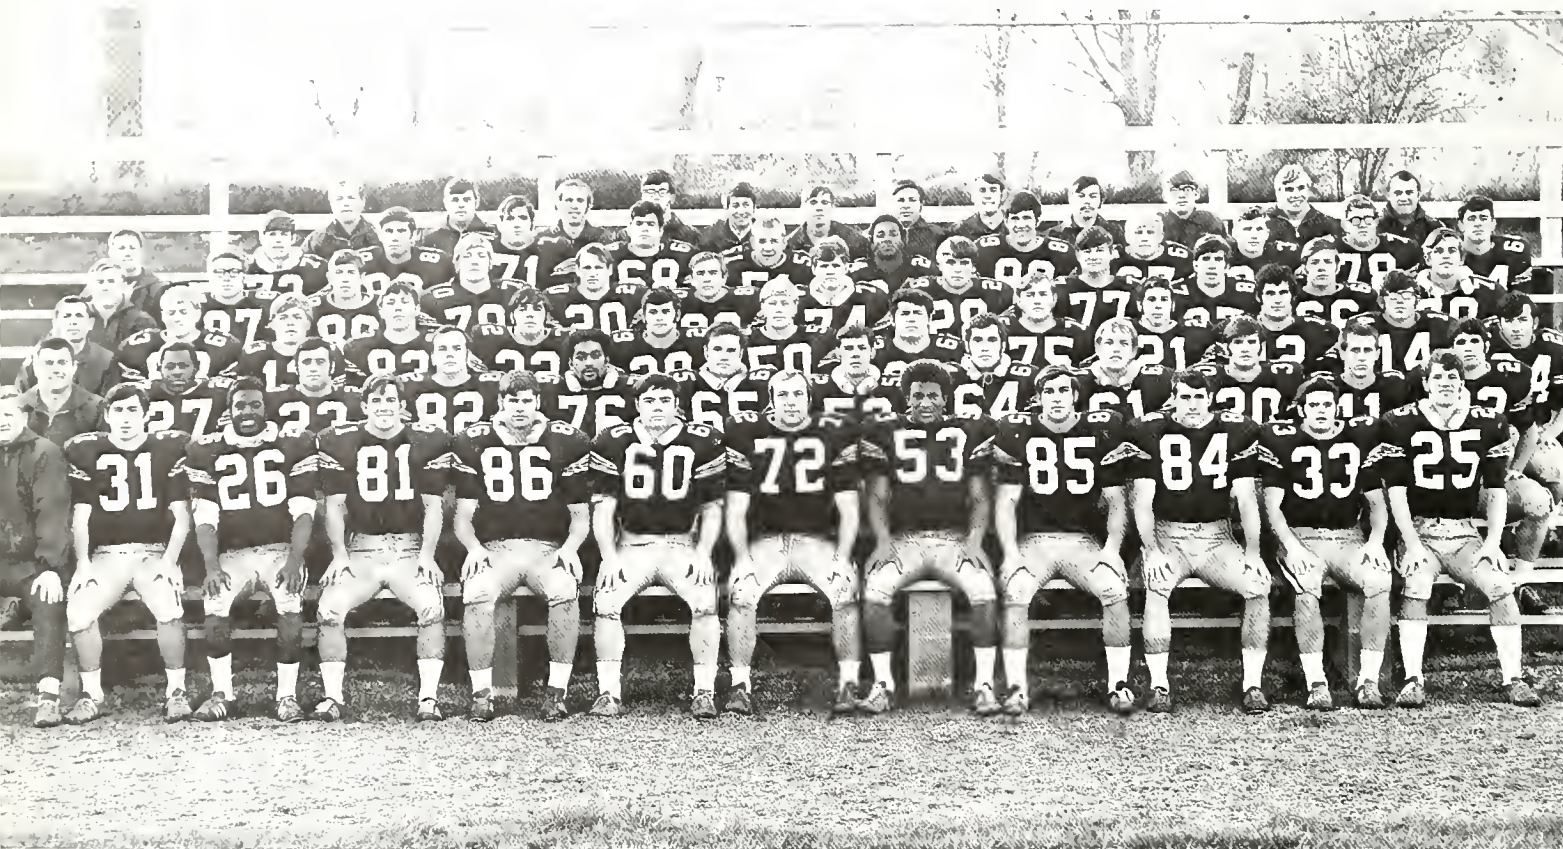

A respected man on campus, since 1962, the 1971 Pine Whispers staff dedicates its efforts to Dr. Rendell Rhoades.

Donges Ends Coaching Career

One of the longest coaching careers in the nation comes to an end this spring when George Donges steps down as head baseball coach at Ashland College.

In his 35-year coaching career at A.C. he has also coached football, basketball, and track; however, it is in the sport of baseball where he has achieved his greatest success, posting 304 wins against 234 losses as he enters this season.

At Ashland College students have been granted the option to join one of nine possible derivatives of the Greek structure.

Within the framework of closely knit brotherhoods and friends destined to last throughout life, the individual Greek discovers the need and virtues of working with others and the value of trust and devotion to a single cause. Involvement becomes a key which a Greek learns to turn more often than ever before, helping those in need, making the lonely and retarded happy and secure, collecting money for various charities and striving to improve the College atmosphere by attributing to its social activity.

The Greek system has proven a major step to progress and personal satisfaction. Its constant efforts and constructive concerns are priceless within its sphere of influence.

Good times should be made to last. Memories should be captured forever — before awareness turns into forgetfulness. Too often momentous experiences are over almost before they've begun. Fun times, unique times become lost times . . . unless they achieve immortality between the covers of a book. Some say yearbooks can make time stand still. They can.

Capturing the pulse beat, the tempo, the excitement of a given school year is the task of a yearbook staff. We live in an era of challenge, an era of questioning tradition for tradition's sake and the "always done it this way" school of thought. A pictorial record of the school year is a difficult task. Principal topics never change — academics, athletics, activities, organizations, faculty and classes. The 1971 PINE WHISPERS staff has searched for fresh and exciting ways to report these happenings to you.

Many unpaid, hair-pulling hours hold these pages together. At times the worth of the ordeal seemed lost. But if I may take the next few lines and direct them to my staff members, I've a few special thoughts to convey.

It has always been difficult to explain why students give up their time for extra curricular activities. Some work to break the monotony of studying, some for extra money, some just like to be involved and do something for their school. You have far excelled the duties of a yearbook staff. Your reward will be the surge of pride building up inside as you realize every fellow student at Ashland will receive a yearbook. I'm confident that there is at least one page that will touch every person who owns a 1971 PINE WHISPERS. Through your efforts you have captured the past year in immortal memories. Memories which your colleagues will share with their families and friends beyond our campus walls. The extra time you have spent will help sell Ashland College to future college-bound students.

The work you've put into this yearbook is rare. It is real now and will always be real. It will be appreciated for a long time as a picture brings a chuckle, smile or tear to someone who can remember those "fun times, unique times that have become lost times."

Thank you for the time you have given, I'm very proud to have worked with you.

Sincerely,

Deborah J. Shoemaker
